women in the United States will develop breast cancer in her lifetime.*

Why do I need an annual mammogram?

Mammograms are the best tests doctors have to find breast cancer early, when it's most treatable.

- + 1 in 6 breast cancers occur between ages 40 – 49
- + 3 out of 4 women diagnosed with breast cancer have no family history or identifiable risk factors
- + up to 20% of cancers will be missed with biennial screening in women 50+ years

Speak with your provider today to learn about our mammography services, and to schedule your next annual mammogram.

For women at the average risk level, annual screening mammography should start at age 40. If you have any questions about insurance coverage, contact your insurance carrier to verify your benefits and determine any potential financial responsibility.*

All mammography screens are read by radiologists who are fellowship-trained and/or highly experienced in breast imaging, which leads to higher cancer detection rates and fewer unnecessary callbacks for patients.
